Designed for Rental

The Enviromax range of products have been designed with rental in mind and incorporates all the features you would expect a rental unit to possess to make installation, transportation and maintenance as simple as possible. The latest Enviromax products contain fork pockets and easy move castors for quick and simple movement, and contain easy to install ducting and quick fit power connectors for further easy use.

In addition to the ranges shared design features, the Enviromax 10 has been specifically designed to fit through a standard doorway and the easy to move castors, on both the Enviromax 10 and 20, enables this to be done simply by one person. The internal thermostat and easy to operate remote control pad makes instant and accurate control possible from any point in the room such as a work station or desk.

Covering all market sectors

Enviromax has been designed to provide the perfect solution for almost any market where a high quality, high power mobile climate control unit is required, whether its for a very short term hospitality event or for a longer summer food manufacturing or storage application. The markets Enviromax has so far proven invaluable include Office environments, Education, Medical, Leisure, Manufacturing, Event/hospitality, Food Processing, Critical processing, Chemical and Pharmaceutical and telecommunications although its difficult to find a market that Enviromax would not be ideal for.

“ Our commitment to service and support ”

Our commitment to service is undoubtedly second to none. Product specification and sales is only a small part of the service we offer to customers of Enviromax and All Enviromax customers receive the same high level of quality service and support currently provided to all customers of MGR. The purchase of any Enviromax product is only the beginning of a full service package available through the life of each unit sold, delivered and installed.

Our support team covers the whole of the UK and is available internationally to cover major events, exhibitions or contracts requiring on-site support. Whatever level of support you need, you won't find better than the support provided by Enviromax and MGR.

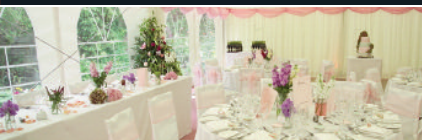

Investment Return

With all the design features incorporated in the Enviromax units, a quick payback on investment can be easily achieved based on the known weekly rental income available to such high specification units, and the high utilisation due to internal/external positioning and the combined air-conditioning and heating capability of the units. There is also a strong potential for ancillaries revenue from the ever increasing and developing range of accessories.

Proven Technology

Although relatively new to the UK market, the Enviromax range of products benefit from over 40 years manufacturing and development experience from one of the worlds leading air conditioning unit manufacturers. The current range of products also benefit from a further 6 years operational testing on the unique design
